

M E E T I N G :

JUBILEE LECTURE

"The Moral Basis of a Free Society"

Chief Rabbi Dr Jonathan Sacks

Tape: 074/96

Date: 5 August 1996

Time: 17.00

Place: Main Hall

6731

No.	Speaker	Country	Notes
000	PETERS, Edward	UK	Introduction of Dr Sacks and his wife, Elaine. Three reasons why it is a privilege for me to introduce.
136	SACKS Dr Jonathan	GB	I'm only sorry my parents weren't here to hear that introduction. My father would have loved it, my mother would have believed it! I have been very moved by the beauty of what happens here.
336	Approx point at which he follows his		original text.
685			(Added quite a bit on demoralisation meaning a loss of hope.) this is on paper later in speech.
717	TAPE SIDE B
622	End of speech -
570	How can we bring greater covenant to the relationship between Jews and Christians?
562	Dr. Sacks' reply.
525	What other covenants are there besides marriage?
477	In what ways will social change be brought about?
439	There is no way we will do it without changing human things hearts?
376	What do you think of Mr [redacted]'s view of peach?
355	What does God's covenant with man consist of?
289	God made different covenants with each different religion and we need them all but he made one covenant with all too
284	What needs to happen to turn the world's attention to the need to renew the Covenant
231	Reply
192	Is there a way what you have said could relate to the European Union?
153	the serious reply, he started with a joke.
142	Last question What, in your view, is the most uniting theme in the main religions of the world?
108	That we all know what it is to suffer Secondly is that they all give us hope and hope can change the world.
050	Gordon WISE	Australia	A typical Jewish story with sense of humour Vote of thanks
	TAPE 2 tape two took over during the humorous story and has complete vote of thanks
150	THE END

Number of tapes used: 2
 Translation tape: yes no

Recorded by: L.M.N.
 Language: