

Moral Re-Armament

MRS. AZIKIWE, wife of the President of the National Council of Nigeria and the Cameroons, received, a great ovation as she addressed the New Year Moral Re-Armament Assembly states a message from Caux, Switzerland, dated January 5. Dressed in the rich purple robes of her country, she was greeted by the international chorus singing 'Nkosi Sikelal iAfrika.'

"My new year wish is for freedom and peace throughout the world," she said. "A conference like this, where nations can discuss problems in a common spirit, is a great necessity. Moral Re-Armament fights for social, economic and international change. It is based on change for both white and black. It is what we need today to unite the world." Mrs. Azikiwe thanked Dr. Buchman for the opportunity of seeing this ideology in action. "Nigeria is a land of sun and all that is necessary for a great country, but we need unity," she said. "My husband has fought for the unity and freedom of our country. When he came back from Caux he made peace with political opponents." Referring to quarrels between British and National leaders she said, "It takes two to make peace. The visit of administrative officers to Caux this year was of great importance. But these are not our only difficulties. We have quarrels between our own people and I am glad that students and business men also came. It will mean much for the future of Nigeria."—N.W.N.A.
